Former Oracle and IBM senior executive Jnan Dash joins Third Eye Consulting Services as CTO Advisory

Santa Clara, CA – January 13, 2017

Third Eye Consulting Services & Solutions LLC, the Silicon Valley based one-stop-shop for Data Engineering and Data Science services, has announced that technology visionary and executive consultant Jnan Dash has joined the firm as Chief Technology Officer (Advisory) as of January 1, 2017.

Dash brings over two decades of IT strategy and executive management experience gained at Fortune 500 companies. He spent 10 years at Oracle Corporation (NYSE:ORCL) as Group Vice President, Systems Architecture and Technology, where he was responsible for setting Oracle's core database and application server product directions and interacted with customers worldwide in translating future needs to product plans. Prior to joining Oracle, he spent 16 years at IBM (NYSE:IBM) in various positions including development of the DB2 family of products and was in charge of IBM's database architecture and technology.

Dash focuses on enterprise solutions such as Cloud Computing, Big Data, New Data Management Technologies, Real Time Analytics, and Scalable Distributed Computing. He is a sought-after speaker at industry forums worldwide on the future of software technology and sits on several companies' boards and advisory boards.

"Jnan's background and experience are a great fit for Third Eye's vision and path going forward," said Third Eye's Founder and CEO Dj Das, "The strategic management value and technical expertise that Jnan brings will spearhead the development of Third Eye's services and accelerate its growth".

On his new appointment, Dash said: "My experience working with global market leaders in the IT space serves as a foundation to guide product strategy, planning, and design at Third Eye. I'm excited about the possibilities that Third Eye's services hold for industries that need them."
